WHALES TO SUPPLY LEATHER

Demand on America for Shoes Will Soon Exhaust the Natural Supply Now on Hand.Now is the time to realize on that claim of a few years ago that the whales could supply the world with leather. It has been figured out from the war activities of Europe, the silence of the tanneries and the shoe factories over there and the demands of this country that Americans must make 14,000,000 pairs of shoes a month right along to supply the world, the Worcester (Mass.) Telegram states. There is a considerable supply of leather for the present, but the hunt for more must be fast and furious if the shoes are all to be made of leather. South America and Australia offer many hides, but not enough by hundreds of thousands, and they are far away, with the ships mostly idle. Then where are the whale leathers, made not so much from the hides of those huge mammals as from the insides, according to the claims of experts.
Leather is going up, and substitutes will be in furious demand before long. Shoes are not the only important products of hides to be in great demand. Harness will be needed more than usual, and saddles galore.
Men at war have no time to stop to save the hides of the thousands of horses killed in the battles or the leather goods they fall under. The cooler heads and hands in the United States are expected to make the supplies and provide themselves with the materials also, and they will get larger profits for their energy if they go along about it.

JUDGING FROM THE AROMA

Twofer—I don't smoke very much.
Hencley—No; they don't seem to be!

CUSTOM OF THE COUNTRY.

Some English prisoners of war in Germany, we have been told, find fault with the coffee supplied to them. We fear some of the Belgian refugees must suffer similar torment from the tea which is prepared in their honor by their hospitable British friends.
On disembarking from the steamer, or arriving at the railway terminus, the good Belgian folk find their cups filled from steaming urns. Most of them are unable to protest verbally, but they make eloquent faces trying to swallow the infusion, which seems to their unaccustomed taste like medicine of peculiar nastiness. Their hosts, of course, mean nothing but kindness; indeed, they are doing to the refugees precisely as they would wish to be done by. But there can be no doubt the Belgians would find it much easier to take the will for the deed if it were expressed in chocolate or even coffee, instead of tea.—Manchester Guardian.

UNFORTUNATE WISH.

"I wish I were the breeze that toys with a curl of your hair," he said fervently."I'm afraid you wouldn't be very popular with me," she answered. "I have just spent an hour in the hands of a hairdresser and if the wind disarranges my hair much more I'm going to lose my religion."

HIS INTENT.

"I wonder why a dog licks people when he likes them?""To put on them the stamp of his approval."

NO CHANGE.

"Is this the preliminary stage of the drama?""No; same stage all the way through."

THE REASON.

"There is no harmony in that marine view.""No wonder when the artist tried to paint a water view in oil colors."

Might Be Dead Today.

Garden City, Kan.—In a letter from Mrs. James Hammer, of this city, says: "I firmly believe that I would not be alive today, if it were not for Cardui. I had been a sufferer from womanly troubles all my life, until I found that great remedy. I feel that I can't praise it too highly." Are you a woman, suffering from some of the troubles, to which a woman is peculiarly adapted? If so, why not try Cardui, the woman's tonic? You can rely on Cardui. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless and acts gently but surely without bad after effects. 'Twill help you.

A former pest is now about to become of great value. At the present time, when any matter affecting the food supply of the United Kingdom is of special moment, it is interesting to learn that the Australian rabbit pest is now an important factor in the lists of foodstuffs arriving in the old country from the oversea dominions. Sir T. A. Coghlan, the agent general for New South Wales, states that within the last four months four ships arriving from New South Wales have unloaded at London 576,336 frozen rabbits from that state. All the consignments came to Representative Denis O'Leary of Nearly every day he looks into the

"If I were the chaplain," he remarked one day shortly after he first came to congress, "I would quit praying for the members of congress and pray for the country."Children Cry

TRAINING BOYS FOR WARFARE

Youth of Australia, From an Early Age, Undergo a Compulsory Military Service.Australian lads of twelve years begin a more or less voluntary form of military training. It is an indulgent, happy-go-lucky sort of thing, designed primarily to be of physical advantage.
When the lads are fourteen years old, a limited military service is severely compulsory, with penalties for evasion, and fines laid upon employers and parents who interfere, and thus continues, with physical exercises, drill, parades, and rifle practice, for four years, whereupon these cadets are passed into the citizen forces.
Four whole-day drills are required each year, and 12 half-day drills and 24 night drills. A perfunctory attendance upon these grave obligations—in-apt, sullen, frivolous behavior—counts for nothing at all. If the cadet fails to be marked efficient by his battalion officers he must perform his service all over again. In Kalgoorlie of western Australia—a great dust storm blowing that night—we watched a column of these "little conscripts" march past with rifles and bugles and drums; and they were smart to see—brown uniforms, with tricks of green, and wide-brimmed Australian hats caught up at the side in the Australian way. It is no farcical affair. When we were in Brisbane of Queensland, a score of truant youngsters were packed off to the military barracks for ten days of close confinement and drill; and away they went, in a big cape wagon, in charge of a sergeant major, and under escort of some brilliant artillerymen—a melancholy little crew, these truants, then, facing ten days of absence from home, with six hours of drill on the hot parade-ground, under a sergeant major, who doubtless knew how to improve the patriotism of small culprits, and would do it with a switch.—Norman Duncan, in Harper's Magazine.

Stop Your Cough

When you first catch a Cold (often indicated by a sneeze or cough), break it up at once. The idea that "It does not matter" often leads to serious complications. The remedy which immediately and easily penetrates the lining of the throat is the kind demanded. Dr. King's New Discovery soothes the irritation, loosens the phlegm. You feel better at once. "It seemed to reach the very spot of my Cough" is one of many testimonials. 50¢ at your
